Erland constructed an athletic facility with three basketball courts housed in a 22,000 square foot, pre-engineered metal building. The new space also includes home and visiting team locker rooms, a wrestling room, and a mezzanine level with fitness center—all joined to the school's existing ice rink. Construction at this New England boarding school was completed in time to accommodate summer program use with minimal disruption to students who occupy the campus during the school year.

Erland then renovated the original athletic facility for squash and rowing programs.
